The story on Morgan Stanley and Honig is false and the emails were made up. To prove it, we sent you the first email yesterday and asked if you were interested. You said yes, so the second email we sent you gave you the story. Also sent yesterday. The third email we sent yesterday started to include the screenshots. We only sent three pictures. This morning, you asked if we had any more photos and you asked what was the last word in the second picture, which was "shekel". You could not read the word from the picture we sent. We also made up that Barry and Wool knew each other since 2009. We have no idea how long they have known each other.

Best of luck
